LITTLE HERMAN LOSES HIS FATHER.

They Were Comrades in Adversity and Battled Against Misfortune.

Left the Boy on a Corner While He Made a Last Search for Work.

Now Herman Fears His "Dad" Has Given Up the Fight and Left Him Alone.

PLEADS TO BE ALLOWED TO SEARCH.

The Gerry Society Will Take Care of the Boy-Sufferings of an East Side Man Since the Death of His Wife.

Herman Burkhardt is a bright little East Side boy, just ten years old. His father is, or was, a tailor, and when he had work he carned enough to support his family. They lived at No. 187 Ludlow street, where Mrs. Burkhardt died six months ago, in giving birth to twins. The twins survived and are now in a nursery in East Fifty-first street. Mrs. Burkhardt's sister, Mrs. Mnry Clements, who lives at No. 235 East Eighty-ninth street, took charge of Herman's sister, who is eight years old.

Misfortunes seldom come singly, and they came with a rush upon this poor tailor. The death of his wife and the breaking up of his family were followed by the loss of his situation. Then, when he could no longer pay his rent, he took his little son and went out to look for work. But they looked in

Patiently the little fellow trudged along through the streets by his father's side, day after day and night after night. They had only such food as their former neighbors and a few friends gave them, and they slept in the cheapest lodging houses when they could get enough money for such a luxury. At other times sheltered corners or hallways of tenement houses were their refuge for rest. During the last six weeks the father had some odd jobs to do, and these brought in enough money to pay for a room in the lodging house No. 2 First

UNABLE TO GET WORK, Burkhardt heard last Friday that there was a vacancy in a tailor shop in East Broadway. Holding his boy by the hand, he the position. At the corner of Stanton and Ludlow streets he left the boy, telling him to wait there until he went to the shop and obtained the place. The lad waited patiently, and at 10 o'clock the father returned

SIXTEEN INSANE WOMEN AND THE HOUSE IN WHICH THEY WERE CROWDED. Sixteen crazy women were sent from Bellevue Hospital to the State Insane Asylum on Ward's Island, but the authorities there objected to recelving them, as they had not been given new clothing before their transfer from the city. The women were on Saturday huddled in a small boathouse on Ward's Island.

Friendless and forlorn, the lad would have gone out into the great city to search for his father. So pathetic was his appeal than many persons in the court room, accustomed as they are to sorrowful scenes, were moved to tears. The lawyers, policesmen and attaches of the court made up a purse of dimes and nickels, enough to fill one of the boy's pockets. But, as he went eway with an officer, he said:

"I'd rather have my dad than all the money in the world!"

WEDDING NOTICE JUST PUBLISHED.

The Couple Kept The Secret of Their Happiness from Their Friends-Are Living with the Bride's Mother.

A little wedding notice was published yesterday which caused considerable surprise in the theatrical world, in which the will give two extra Matique performances, as bridegroom, George Wotherspoon, is well WEDNESDAY known. The bride was Florence Lockwood Johnson, daughter of the late James B. FRIDAY CAN February 16 in the Church of the Good Shepherd, on McDonough street, near Stuyvesant avenue, Brooklyn. It was shortly after his arrival in Brook-lyn that he met Mrs. Johnson. She was a charming widow of twenty, with big brown eyes. While Mr. Wotherspoon was in charge of the Park Theatre she visited the house almost every night.

Some weeks ago, when George C. Miln was at the Park Theatre, Mr. Wotherspoon left the box office of the theatre to become manager of his company. He is still connected with the company.

Although it was known that Wotherspoon and the young widow were on excellent terms, it was not suspected that they were married until the ganouncement was made yesterday.
